The logo consists of a blue rectangular background. At the top, there is a white graphic of a network or circuit. It features a central grid of 12 small solid circles arranged in three rows and four columns. Several of these circles are connected to larger, hollow white circles. Specifically, the top-left and top-right circles of the second row are connected to larger hollow circles above them. The top-right circle of the second row is connected to a larger hollow circle to its right. The top-right circle of the third row is connected to a larger hollow circle to its right. Below this graphic, the word "CODES" is written in a bold, white, sans-serif font.
